About this document

The Australian Government is changing parts of the National Disability Insurance Scheme (NDIS).

These changes will start on 1 October 2026.

The changes will affect funding for some types of supports.

Funding is money from your NDIS plan that pays for the supports you need.

Your NIDS plan has information about:

- you and your goals
- what supports you need
- what the NDIS will pay for.

What is changing?

There will be changes to how much funding participants can get for support to:

- take part in their community

- learn to do more things for themselves in their everyday life.

Participants are people with disability who take part in the NDIS.

You might get less funding if you have these supports in your NDIS plan.

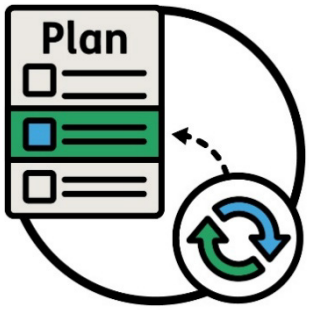

Your funding for these supports will change when you:

- get a new NDIS plan
- have a plan reassessment.

A plan reassessment is when we check if the supports in your plan still work well for you.

There will also be a new way to get a plan variation.

A plan variation is when the NDIA changes some parts of a person's NDIS plan.

We explain the new plan variation more over the following pages.

You can also learn more about these changes on our website.

www.ndis.gov.au/news/11695-changes-support-budgets-1-october

Who is the new plan variation for?

You can only get the new plan variation if you have high support needs.

High support needs means you need a lot of support all the time.

You also must have funding for 24 hour NDIS supports in your NDIS plan.

This includes supports you:

- share with other participants

- use on your own

- use overnight.

You must have $215,030 or more for funding across 3 support categories.

The support categories are:

- Assistance with Daily Life

- Home and Living

and

- Assistance with Social, Economic and Community Participation.

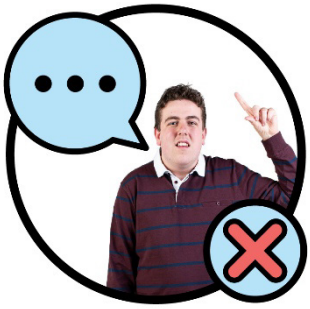

You must get this funding for 24 hour NDIS supports that you need for your disability.

How will the new plan variation work?

You must ask for a plan variation within 90 days of getting your new NDIS plan.

You cannot ask for a plan variation before you get your new plan.

Only you or your nominee can ask for a plan variation.

Your nominee is someone you choose to:

- make decisions for you
- do things for you that you cannot do on your own.

You can also get support from another person when you ask for a plan variation.

For example, a support worker.

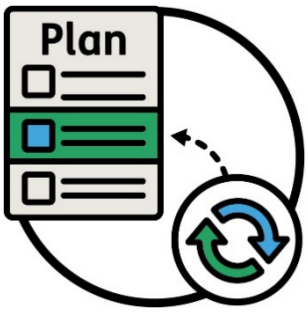

We cannot ask for a plan variation for you.

Once you ask, we will have 21 days to decide if you have high support needs.

We will then have another 21 days to:

- decide if you need a plan variation

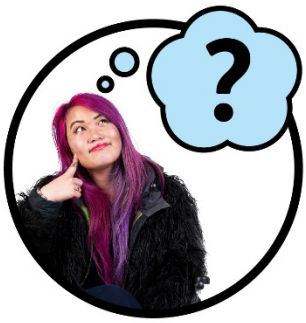

- tell you if we need more time to decide.

You can ask to check our decision if we decide not to give you a plan variation.

Who can you ask about these changes?
